"My work with Susan Whelan was phenomenal!! I decided to work with Susan because she was coach, certified in the Tapping into Wealth program developed by Margaret M. Lynch. I had done the 7 Levels program on my own and realized I needed some personal coaching because I was not getting results fast enough or deep enough by myself.

Susan is an intuitive observer and motivator. She was sensitive and empathetic when she redirected me through my resistances and distraction. She led me through processes and helped me understand the negative vows and programming I had about money. Then she personalized the tapping scripts to fit me perfectly. I cleared massive amounts of fear, anxiety, grief and disappointment. As these issues were discovered and removed, I became more understanding and compassionate with myself. Creative energy was also released, and new ideas and excitement became available for me to relaunch and expand my bodywork practice. Her coaching helped keep me on track, and stay committed to the path I had chosen. I was excited to meet with her every week. And now that we are finished, I miss our sessions!

Thank you so much, Susan!!!"

"When I started this program, the problem I had was around toxic money as a result of my husband's accidental death. The amazing breakthroughs I had regarding this resulted in me breaking the cycle of spending and sliding into debt. As worked together I had an amazing offer to co host an 8 week online training course! Totally out of the blue with a person I had only recently met. This was a dream of mine but for the future! Boy did that bring up a lot of stuff for me! But Susan skilfully worked with me to release all those programmed beliefs so that now I do believe and trust in myself and can stop playing small. I am so grateful that I found Susan and her program, because really, I was stuck on a treadmill going around in ever diminishing circles. Now I am confidently shining my light for all to see."

"I started working with Susan from a place of sheer desperation. I was in the process of starting up my own business and was feeling totally stuck – unable to take any action, virtually paralysed with guilt over not being able to take action(!) and secretly convinced that this would all end in failure.

I had tapped my way through the Tapping Into Wealth book on my own, but what a difference it makes working with a coach! Susan has a real gift for spotting all of my garbage, helping me to confront it and also clear it away – and whilst she is very direct and as uncompromising as she needs to be (with me), she always comes from a place of compassion and I leave each session feeling more and more supported, empowered and aware of my own gifts. She can see my potential and fights for me to be able to see it too.

After only a few sessions, I am a different person – much lighter, more confident and much more fun to be around – I feel as though a huge weight has been lifted and am already starting to see money turning up just when I need it. And as an unexpected bonus, long-standing tensions with my family have simply dissolved – something I never imagined was possible.

Thanks Susan – you're a life-saver!"

Deborah Camp - TIW Coach, England

"I made the decision after many conversations with Susan to travel to the South Island to work with her for a week, in an effort to heal long standing issues and recuperate. Her caring manner, insight and support helped me to explore and work through some painful issues. I felt safe and nurtured throughout my stay. Susan helped me to make major lifestyle changes around acceptance, old negative beliefs and supported these changes with her holistic approach, even helping me to make some changes in my nutrition.

She taught me how to make nourishing organic dishes and broths and introduced living culture to support my new level of awareness and my ongoing wellbeing.

Since leaving, I have worked with her on a number of occasions via the telephone and she has been able to help me move through issues that I would have found overwhelming and baffling in the past. After working with Susan I feel strong and capable. I now have an action plan that provides me with the ability to move peacefully through my day and able to aware that I can now manifest what I would like into my life.

I have recommended Susan to my family and friends. They too continue to have a working relationship with her and have experienced increased shifts in their wellbeing."
